Correspondence of the Richmond Examiner.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Salutary Counsel of Secretary Welles---Decapitation of Clarke, the Comptroller---Negotiations Tending to Deprive the South of Representation---Resolution in Accordance---Two-thirds Majority to Carry Everything.

WASHINGTON, March 22.

The Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Welles, is one of the strongest supporters of President Johnson, and he has very emphatically declared that the President ought to take the field and show the people that he is in earnest in effecting a reform, by dismissing his political opponents from office and appointing his friends. The people are more impressed by such acts than by any exhortations. Secretary Welles has said, for instance, in the case of Comptroller Clarke, that were he the President, the Comptroller's head should fall before sunrise. The President understands the situation as well as any one and will probably move at the right time. The Comptroller of the Currency is only one of the public men who derive all their influence from their position, and use it all against the President's policy.

Negotiations have been going on for some time—ever since the veto message—between the Republican members and their radical associates, for a compromise whereby they can unite upon some constitutional amendment cutting off Southern representation. This supposes an abandonment by Congress of the plan of forcing negro suffrage upon the eleven Southern States, and substituting for it a representation based on the number of voters, which will deprive those States of a large portion of the representation to which they are entitled under the Constitution as it stands.

They have made such progress in this that in a few days the Committee on Reconstruction will report a resolution in accordance with the treaty of alliance.

No one can say that they will not pass the resolution by a vote of two-thirds in the Senate, and the House will certainly go for it by two-thirds.

The Southern States may refuse to ratify it, but, in that case, Congress will assert that ratification by excluded States is unnecessary.

Another ground of apprehension is that the conservative Republican Senators have shown much weakness. They expected too much from the demonstrations of the 22d of February.—They find the people slow to move in favor of President Johnson, and begin to doubt their own foothold. The President pooh-poohs the Stewart resolutions.

[Special despatch to the Baltimore Sun.]

GEN. HAWLEY, OF CONNECTICUT—THE COMING ELECTION.

Washington, March 22.—Gen. Hawley, radical candidate for Governor of Connecticut, had an interview to-day with Secretary Welles. He comes here to get that endorsement of the administration which is a necessity to him. The President said to-day to a gentleman of Connecticut that he was for the candidates that supported his policy. A postmaster in that State, who resigned because of his opposition to that policy, may have his resignation accepted.

The acting Vice President and President of the Senate is influencing clerks of the departments to go to Connecticut and vote. The Republicans here count their anticipated majority by hundreds only.

There is a prospect that a large number of corrupt treasury agents in the South will be immediately removed.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL.

[Special Dispatch to the Philadelphia Press.]

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Great interest prevails in regard to the probable fate of this important measure, whether President Johnson will sign or veto it. The general opinion seems to favor the idea that he will sanction it. Senator Wilson called upon him last night and made an earnest appeal in its favor, but could extract no indication from him. The enrolled bill was presented to him on Friday evening, and we shall probably have a message before the end of the week.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE AUSTRALASIAN.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The steamship Australasian, with Liverpool dates to the 10th, has arrived.

The shareholders in the Atlantic Telegraph Company have unanimously adopted resolutions approving the arrangements of the Directors with the Anglo-American Company, etc., for laying the Cable this year, upwards of one hundred miles of Cable being laid per week, and June 15th is fixed for the Great Eastern to leave Sherness. Undiminished confidence is generally expressed in its success.

President Johnson's speech at Washington, on the 22d ult., is very generally applauded.—The Times warmly eulogizes it. The Daily News gives it its unqualified approval, and bitterly denounces Bancroft's oration.

In the House of Commons the Parliamentary oath bill has been read the second time, after which Mr. D'Israeli had given notice of an amendment which will make the oath recognize the supremacy of the Queen and acknowledge allegiance to her successors.

The Irish police continue to carry out their extraordinary powers with great vigor. The police are still searching for Stevens in Dublin.

In the London Bankruptcy Court, application was made for the release from custody of George N. Sanders, now a prisoner for debt. His debts exceed ten thousand pounds sterling, and he is hopelessly bankrupt. He attributes his failure to disappointment in the execution of his contracts with the Confederate Government for building iron plated vessels. There was no opposition to his release, but owing to some informality the matter was postponed.

LATEST MARKET REPORT.

LIVERPOOL, March 10.—Cotton—Sales to-day of 20,000 bales. The market is buoyant, and a trifle higher. Middling uplands 19@19¼d.

LONDON, March 10th.—Consols 86¼@87. U. S. 5.20's 70¾.

In a recent libel case in Louisiana, the libel being in the German language, an English translation of which was given, the court held that it was necessary that it should be set forth in the original language, and the indictment was quashed.

E. F. Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,

OR

WARRANTED GENUINE.

BEING MADE OF THE BEST MATERIAL AND in the most approved manner, it is recommended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise, and those engaged in its manufacture will continue their best endeavors to advance the high reputation which it has acquired.

We guarantee the Phosphate to be well manufactured, and recommend it in preference to any other artificial manure in the market. We consider it nearly equal to the best Peruvian Guano, although furnished at half the price.

Messrs B. H. Allen & Co., the well known manufacturers of agricultural implements, say of it:

"We take pleasure in stating that we have sold E. F Coe's Super Phosphate of Lime for four years.—It has given universal satisfaction to our customers. We most cheerfully endorse it as an article worthy of the confidence of the public, and the purchaser may rely upon securing an article honestly and carefully manufactured.

"We would state that, after careful examination, we believe this Phosphate has been improved each year since its introduction in this market, and that it will continue to maintain its present high standing.

"Very respectfully,

"R. H. ALLEN & CO.,
"No. 191 Water street, New York."

G. FRANK COE, ESQ.,

Annexed please find result of my analysis of sample of your Super Phosphate of Lime left with me. This being such a superior article in every respect, I cannot refrain from congratulating you upon such a manufacture, which undoubtedly will meet with great success.

ON THE FIRST OF JANUARY WE WILL commence the publication, in the City of Baltimore, of a monthly

Literary Magazine.

There is no publication of this character now issued South of New York City, and the closing of the war has left a large portion of the people of the country with no literary representative.

Literature, Art, Reviews, Scientific Papers and General Reading, and we shall number among its contributors some of the first literary men of the South, with others from the North and from London and Paris.

As its name imports, we have established the COSMOPOLITE upon no sectional basis. We hope to make it the organ of general literature alone; and will be uninfluenced by any party or clique whatever.

It will be mailed to subscribers in any part of the country upon receipt of the following

Subscription:

Single Copies, for one year,	$4 00
Five Copies for one year,	18 00

On yesterday, we gave to our readers an able article on this subject, addressed to Judge Reade and the State Convention, from the pen of "Gaston." We beg to re-call the attention of our readers and the members of the Convention to that article, and to the following plan and specifications. We are of opinion that the press of the State cannot do a better service, than to call attention to this subject.

The late Legislature, we think, deeply felt the imperious necessity of providing some plan, by which the gloom and despondency of our people could be relieved in reference to their pecuniary condition. The excessive scarcity of money and the want of means to procure it, that body was neither ignorant of, nor insensible to the heavy pressure it produced. How to relieve it? was the difficulty. No plan presented to its consideration seemed to answer the purpose, and at the same time to be removed from serious objections.

The plan of a Land Loan Company, as the basis of a Real Estate Bank, was suggested at too late a period of the session, to receive that consideration which its importance demanded. Hence a bare report of a committee favorable to the enterprise, was all that was done.

The friends of the measure, therefore, because of the overshadowing necessity for immediate relief to the people, design bringing this scheme to the earliest attention of the State Convention in May, and to urge upon that body the granting of such a charter for the formation of a Company, as may be desired, in order that the emergency may be met.

We beg leave, therefore, to submit the following exposition of the whole scheme, for the consideration and discussion of the press and the people of the State:

1. In every county in the State, let one or more gentlemen, who approve the scheme, draw up a subscription at once, and present it to bona fide real estate owners to subscribe whatever amount they think proper, in acres of land or value of real estate in the towns, at a fair gold value, as so many shares of stock of $100 each, in the North Carolina Land Loan Company; and let such subscription papers be forwarded to the Editors of the Sentinel by the 1st. of May next.

2. Whereupon, a memorial will be laid before the Convention, praying for a Charter for the North Carolina Land Loan Company.

3. It is proposed that the capital stock of the Company shall not be less than $10,000,000 nor more than $20,000,000, and the charter shall not extend beyond twenty-five years. The stock shall be divided into shares of $100, based upon a mortgage made to the Company by the subscribers to the full value of their stock, of land, or real estate at a fixed gold value. The Company to be endowed with full corporate powers usually granted to corporations, with the additional privilege of banking under the National Bank law, to the amount of one-half of its capital stock, with such necessary guards as the Convention may throw around it, not incompatible with the law of Congress incorporating the National Banks. Provided, that the Banking privilege shall not be granted for a longer period, without renewal, than twenty years from the opening of the Bank.

4. So soon as $10,000,000 in real estate at gold value shall have been subscribed and mortgaged, the Company may issue its bonds, running twenty years, at 7 per cent. interest, payable semi-annually, with coupons attached, $1000 each, upon which its agent or agents may effect loans of gold for $5,000,000. As soon as the loans are effected, the gold must be invested in U. S. money to be re-invested in U. S. stocks, to be deposited with the government under the U. S. Banking Law. It is reasonable to assume that with $5,000,000 of gold, $6,000,000 of government stocks may be purchased.—Upon this capital the Company proceeds to open its Banks. The Bank located at Raleigh to be managed directly by the President and Directors of the Company and be regarded as the principal, but the Company shall locate a Bank in each Congressional District, provided $600,000 of stock have been subscribed in each of said Districts, and at such other points as the Company may order. The first Bank to be called the First National Real Estate Bank of North Carolina, and the second, third, fourth, &c.

5. The subscribers shall be in all cases bona fide owners of the lands or real estate subscribed and mortgaged. The lands or real estate to be entirely unencumbered. The mortgage to hold the fee simple title to the Company for twenty five years or until the affairs of the Company are settled up. Provided, that the mortgagor holds undisputed possession of his land or real estate and enjoys all its benefits, subject only to the claim of the Company in liquidation of its debts. Provided, further, that the mortgagor may sell, or convey by will, after due notification to the Company, the purchaser or heir or heirs assuming the same relations to the Company as the original mortgagor. The holder of the lands or real estate to be held liable to the Company, for the improvement of the property as well as for any depreciation arising from his neglect or otherwise not natural or accidental causes.

These Banks are not intended to interfere with other National Banks in the State. They are to be conducted on the same plan, except that they are to loan to the people on satisfactory security, to the extent allowed by their charters, having due regard to their own safety.

6. It will be seen that the Company must make arrangements to meet promptly its interest at 7 per cent on a loan of $5,000,000. To meet this it receives 6 per cent. on $6,000,000 from the government, and must supply the deficiency from the income of the Banks. Presuming that the Banks are managed judiciously, it is conceived to be safe to estimate the gross earnings of the Company annually from the Banks, to be equal to 12 per cent on the $6,000,000 employed in Banking. Say, it is only 10 per cent. Two and a half per cent. on that amount of capital will be ample to meet the deficiency of interest on its 7 per cent. loan, and meet all incidental expenses. Five per cent should be placed in a Sinking Fund annually, to be managed as the Company may order, so as to provide for the redemption of the notes and all losses, which in 20 years would largely exceed the issues of the Bank. The bonds deposited with the government would under ordinary circumstances, amply meet the original debt. This would leave two and a half per cent. to be divided among the stockholders for their risk.

7. If the business be skillfully and faithfully managed, the risk is almost nothing—the profits would be larger than we have estimated. As the stockholders remain in possession of their property and enjoy its benefits, perhaps the wiser course would be to make no dividends to the stockholders—give them no special privileges as borrowers, but appropriate the entire earnings of the Banks to the Sinking Fund, after paying all interest and expenses. They would thereby reap the greater benefit in the end and be the instruments of supplying a currency to the people, and thus aid every enterprise and every interest.

Let the public consider it. Let the press ventilate the plan. If there are errors point them out. If there are weaknesses let them be cured by a better suggestion. Our object is to help the people and relieve them from the dangers which threaten them. It is a scheme for the people. Every landowner can be a stockholder, and all can participate in its benefits.

"The Sentinel supported candidates for Congress on the ground that they could not and would not take this oath, and opposed candidates who could take it."—Standard.

It is unqualifiedly untrue that the Sentinel either opposed or advocated the election of candidates for Congress upon any such grounds. In each instance we were governed by the personal fitness and present political status of the aspirants, in our course with reference to them. We cordially supported the claims of Mr. Hanes, for example, who is one of the few men in our State that preserved a consistent Union record throughout the entire war. The Standard opposed him, though it had, but a few days before the announcement of his candidacy, warmly endorsed his unswerving fidelity to the government. We only stopped to inquire, in every case, were the candidates fit, morally or intellectually, to be the representatives of the people, and acceptable to the people of the District, and were they now "unmistakably loyal" to the Union, according to the tests prescribed by President Johnson. And we unhesitatingly assert that, according to that standard, there is not a member elect from North Carolina who is not entitled to his seat in Congress.

But how is it with the Standard? It supported Mr. Pool for the Senate. Can he take the oath? Why, it is even charged that he was at one time an applicant for a Brigadiership in the Confederate army. It sustained Mr. Brown. Could he take it? He signed the ordinance of secession, as did the Editor of the Standard. It was in favor of Mr. Russ in this District. Could he take it. Of course not. We have before us, at this moment, an address to the people issued by that gentleman, in July, 1862, in which we find such expressions as the following: "I have been, and am now, for prosecuting this war, with all our power and resources, to the full and permanent achievement of our independence."——"I have contributed in every way possible, by speech, by exertions, by contributions from my pecuniary means, to advance the cause of volunteering." It supported Mr. Caldwell in the Mountain District. We presume that he cannot take the oath, while it is alleged that if any man in the State can take it, Mr. Jones, who was the successful candidate, can. And we leave it to the readers of the Standard, during the Congressional campaign, to say if its advocacy of Messrs. Lehman and Bond was not lukewarm and faint.

Our neighbor should bear in mind that, in shooting his long gun, there is as much danger at the breech as at the muzzle!

"There was a big man, and he had a little gun,
And he filled his little gun with lead, lead, lead,
And he shot a poor duck right through its head,
And he killed the poor duck dead, dead, dead,"

The Friends--Again.

The Goldsboro News ventilates the Quaker persecution humbug in proper style. It says:

"There is no truth in this charge of persecution, manufactured for political ends; but if it be conceded there is any truth to be attached to the statements, we respectfully beg leave to call attention to the fact that emigration is from the counties in which the candidate of these papers for Governor—the Union men par excellence—received the largest relative vote, and in the one particularly named, Randolph, he received a majority of the votes cast. Who then are the persecutors?"

It adds that in the county of Wayne, where the men who remained true to the Confederacy to the last are greatly in the majority, there are a large number of Quakers residing, and it never heard of any case of persecution, or of emigration, for the fear of it. It also promises that if the Friends are persecuted in the intensely "Union" region alluded to, and will come to Wayne, they shall sit under their own vine and fig tree, none daring to molest or make them afraid.

The truth is this whole canard about "persecution" is very similar to the quiz perpetrated by that clerical wit, Sidney Smith, on a nervous woman who was boring him, when he told her that if there was one thing in the world he was desirous of doing, it was to "roast a Quaker." The poor woman was so startled she never forgot or forgave it.

The Winston Sentinel, alluding to the same subject, says:

"There is no class of our fellow citizens that is more generally esteemed than the Friends, and we do not believe there is a man in the State who is disposed to persecute and annoy them. We have it, however, upon good authority, that the parties above alluded to were themselves persecutors; that they were rabid disciples of the "strait sect" party, one of whose fundamental principles is to persecute and proscribe every one who refuses to bow down to their Baal; that at the recent county court in Randolph, the people, justly indignant at the course pursued by these men, gave them to understand that they would be expected to demean themselves properly in future, whereupon, in a fit of fanatical indignation, they determined to leave the State for a more congenial clime."

"TURNER and other contumacious leaders ought to be handled at the proper time."—Gov. Holden's telegram to the President.

A MALICIOUS SLANDER.—The Petersburg Register speaks of Capt. Josiah Turner as "Turner the Unionist." Capt. Turner was a Unionist in 1861, before the proclamation of Mr. Lincoln calling for troops to make war on the Southern States, but as soon as that proclamation was received, Capt. Turner volunteered, went to Fort Macon with his gun, and remained in the war fighting against the old Union until he was so disabled by a wound that he was compelled to retire from the service. The marks of this wound, which came within the thickness of a wafer of being fatal, he will carry to his grave; and yet such a man is held up to the country as a traitor! Such is the intolerance of the Destructive leaders and presses that no man is permitted to differ with them and escape the charge of disloyalty.—Standard, Oct. 30, 1863.

Since the surrender of the Southern armies, Mr. Turner has given the same evidences of loyalty to the Union that he is commended by the Standard as having shown to the Confederate Government. In no particular, that we can call to mind, has he given just cause of offence, unless it be that his effective opposition to Gov. Holden's election is regarded by the Standard as proof of disloyalty. We challenge that paper to exhibit the evidences of Mr. Turner's "contumacy."

Was Gov. Graham "contumacious," also, that the Provisional Governor prevented his pardon?

Financial Crisis.

The indications in New York portend a crisis in financial affairs, which close observers of the situation have looked for. For a week or two the decline in gold, cotton, and every species of goods, has been heavy. Goods, especially, have tumbled, having run down more than twenty-five per cent. below former prices.

We learn that the tendency is still downward and that there is almost a panic in the market. We were informed, some days ago, that some of the most substantial merchants in New York talked of re-shipping their goods to Europe.—Gold now rules in that city as low as 123¼. Cotton must necessarily feel the effect of this decline.

Excellent.

A Clerk in the Paymaster's General's Office from New Hampshire was recently requested by the New Hampshire Union Club "to remit a sum equal to one-and-a-half per cent. of his annual salary to defray the expenses of the New Hampshire election." He remonstrated, expressing his opposition to the principles and policy "of Thaddeus Stevens and his fellow disunionists," &c. This remonstrance was laid before President Johnson, who sent it to the Paymaster General, with the following endorsement:

The independence exhibited by the writer in resisting the attempt to levy a tax upon him as an office-holder under the Federal Government, and his just estimate of corrupt principles, entitle him to respect and approbation. I, therefore, as an evidence of my appreciation of the qualities manifested in the letter, recommend him to the Paymaster General for early promotion.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

The Secretary of War has communicated a document to the House of Representatives in reply to a resolution, showing, among other things, that on the 9th of January, of the troops in service, 18,890 were employed in Missouri; 4,841 in Virginia; 3,106 in North Carolina; 4,768 in South Carolina; 1,064 in Georgia; 10,638 in Alabama; 10,684 in Tennessee; 8,567 in Arkansas; 10,103 in Louisiana; and 29,248 in Texas. Orders have been issued for the further reduction of 18,654 whites, and 23,000 colored, or, in all, 41,744 men. The troops comprising the regular army number 26,636. The regiments, excepting the Seventeenth Infantry, have been assigned to military departments, and as fast as recruits are made, the unorganized companies are formed and put en route for the departments where their regiments are serving. Recruits are also being sent to fill up other companies already organized. About 8,000 recruits per month are now being enlisted.

Extract from the Speech of Hon. W. E. Finck, of Ohio, in the House of Representatives, March 3rd, 1866, on "the policy to be pursued towards the people of the South."

"Sir, this Government is certainly not what I supposed it to be, if, after the war is ended, and these people have returned to their allegiance to the Constitution, they cannot be intrusted with the full exercise of the rights which belong to them under the Constitution.

After the rebellion has been overthrown, it is too late to speak of an entire people as rebels and traitors. The war has done its work most effectually. Let us now have peace, and the return of all the legitimate relations of peace.

Have we indeed degenerated? Are we less patriotic, less magnanimous, less merciful, and controlled more by the base passions of hate and revenge, than were the statesmen of Rome two thousand years ago? I trust not.

In reading a speech delivered on the 8th January last by a distinguished citizen of Ohio, once a leading member of the Senate of the United States, and who I regret is not now in the councils of the nation, I was reminded of an event in the history of the Roman people which it would be well for us not to forget.

Nearly a hundred years before the Christian era there was an attempt made by some of the Roman States to secede from the Italian Union. A war ensued like our own, most bloody and destructive, and lasting about the same period of time. But the confederates then, as now, were utterly and completely defeated. How, let me enquire, did the great men of Rome, on whose minds no ray had yet been shed of that divine religion which our Saviour came upon earth nearly a century later to establish, treat the conquered people of those States? Did Roman Senators, like American Representatives, propose to hold these States as subjugated territories and deny their people the rights of citizens? No, sir, no such unwise counsels prevailed in the Roman Senate; but with a true wisdom and magnanimity, which even at this day must command our warm admiration, they generously conceded to the people of the insurgent States the full rights of Roman citizens, and merged the remnant of the armies of the late confederates with the legions of the Republic, marching them together under the Roman eagle to recover the territories which had been overrun and occupied by a foreign enemy during the social war, thus preserving the power, and strength, and glory, of the Republic.

Cicero, in one of his beautiful orations, speaks in terms of the most eloquent praise of the custom which had prevailed among the Roman people of granting the rights of citizens to conquered enemies. Other instances of the exercise of the same wise and liberal policy might be cited from Roman history.

And now I may be allowed to inquire whether it is possible that the Congress of the United States, at this day, in the full blaze of Christian civilization, will be less magnanimous to our brethren of the South than were the Roman people two thousand years ago to their conquered enemies.

Sir, I am not insensible to the fact that the events of the last four years have produced estrangements and divisions which time alone can fully restore; that wounds have been inflicted which are yet too fresh to allow us to hope for that perfect restoration of cordial friendship and amity for which every lover of his country and his race will ardently pray.

But it seems to me that it would be the part of true wisdom in us, after having so completely crushed the rebellion, and when these people have so unanimously and sincerely, as I believe, resolved to return to their duties and obligations to the General Government, to treat them with that clemency and kindness which will not fail to win their affection, and thus settle more firmly the foundations of the Union, and add additional lustre to the brilliant victories we have achieved.

I know that they have committed a great wrong; but I ask, now that we have vindicated before the world that no right exists under our Constitution for a State to secede—after we have exhibited a determination, which admits of no misconstruction or doubt, that we will have but one Constitution and one flag—would it be the part of wisdom and magnanimity, in this hour of our triumph, to seek to crush and degrade these men who we have determined shall live with us as brethren of the same common country?

No, sir; no, sir; this is the hour for clemency and forgiveness. Let us generously say to these people, "It is true, indeed, that you have committed a great crime in endeavoring to break up this Union, made by the sacrifices, the toil, and the wisdom of your fathers as well as ours, but you have abandoned your error and expressed your desire to return to the common household. We know how to be generous in the council chamber, as our armies have been magnanimous, gallant, and brave in the field, and however great has been your error you are still our countrymen. Come, let us again be sincere friends. We trust and believe that in the future you will be as devoted and patriotic to the Union as you have been brave and heroic in a mistaken cause in the past. Let us once more unite in the pleasing task of advancing the true glory, happiness, and prosperity of our common country. Come, let us enjoy as equals and as brothers the rich blessings of this priceless heritage which has come down to us from an illustrious ancestry.

Let us not forget, I beseech you, Mr. Speaker, the petition in the best of prayers which was pronounced by the lips of our divine Redeemer himself, and which was taught us at our mother's knee, "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive them who trespass against us." And as we prostrate ourselves in humble adoration before the Supreme Ruler of nations to beg His blessings and the forgiveness of our many transgressions, oh, let us not forget that He is the common Father of us all, and that in order that our prayers may be heard, we too, must forgive every one from our hearts.

Sir, I believe the pure precepts of Christian charity will be a much safer guide for us in this crisis of our history than the principles of hate and revenge. I have always been opposed to the doctrines of secession. I was determined in my opposition to the rebellion. I have always been devoted in my attachment to the Union of these States. All my interests are in the North. There sleep the ashes of my ancestors. There live my kindred and my friends, those whose love and friendship make life happy. But, sir, I shall never forget every State of the thirty-six is a part of my country, and that their citizens are my countrymen. I shall never forget, Mr. Speaker, that the independence of this nation was achieved and the union of these States formed by the united toil and sacrifices—the blood and wisdom of both sections; and my most earnest prayer to-day is that this whole people may again be true friends, and that all of these States may once more gather around the common altar of the Union, linked together as equals by the strong and enduring ties of mutual confidence and affection."

Professor Wheatstone, of England, has made a great achievement in electro-telegraphing.—With his automatic instrument he can transmit six hundred distinctly legible signs or letters in a minute.

JOHNSTON COUNTY LAND FOR SALE.

I offer for sale the two tracts of land known as the Zack Hill place, three and a half miles from Boon Hill, and on the Road to Lowell Factory, containing in both 224 acres. The improvements are a log dwelling house, smoke house, and stables, and a good well of water. The land is desirable for cultivation, as it is immediately upon Little River, where can be found any amount of the richest loam; and also very valuable for its pine forest, only a small quantity of which has been boxed, and will yield a crop of Turpentine the present year.

A good bargain may be had, as the proprietor is disposed to sell it cheap for cash.

THE SENTINEL.

Saturday, March 24, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Davis & Jones have on hand a fine lot of superior cotton seed, and a quantity of tar in excellent order.

J. J. Litchford commences business again as Auction and Commission Merchant. Mr. L. is a gentleman of excellent business capacity, and all matters entrusted to him will be well and promptly attended to.

HORSE THIEVES.—The Winston Sentinel says that there is not the slightest doubt but that there are one or more regularly organized gangs of horse thieves in Forsythe and surrounding counties, and that there will be no security for the property of citizens until all the rascals are ferreted out, and brought to the punishment due their crimes. There are cases in which "a long rope and a short shrift" is the sole remedy, and this is one of the cases.

WILMINGTON MARKETS.—Sales of 24 bales Cotton, on the 22nd., at 25c. per lb for re-packed. Crude Turpentine, $4.10. Tar, $1.50.

NEWBERN MARKETS.—Cotton 32@33 cents for good middling, and 28@30 cents for ordinary.

WILMINGTON POLICE.—Mr. R. J. Jones has been appointed Assistant Marshal of Wilmington, with a salary of $1200. Mr. Jones was one of the recently elected aldermen.

The police force of the city consists of three captains, with salary of $75 per month each; six sergeants at $60 per month each; and sixty-five privates at $50 each.

PETERSBURG MARKETS.—Cotton, sales at 85 cents. Corn, 85@90 cents. Wheat, prime white, $1.50@$2. Gold bought at $1.25 and sold at $1.30.

THE CHARLOTTE papers are urging the adoption of the new Charter. On the first Thursday in April, the citizens will have an opportunity of deciding whether the town shall be a City, or whether it shall be reduced back to a "village." The Guardian is confident of the ratification of the Charter.

The Supply of Cotton.

Those dealers who based their operations in cotton and cotton goods upon the reports that were extensively circulated soon after the surrender of the rebel armies, have been somewhat disappointed. It was stated that the supply in the Southern States would not exceed one million bales, and that was all that could possibly be obtained until after another crop was gathered.—These reports were, no doubt, circulated for an object, and to keep the price up as long as possible. At any rate it had that effect, and while it deceived many it kept the cost of the manufactured goods to the consumer at an exorbitantly high figure, and has nearly ruined a number of cotton speculators. We see from a cotton circular just issued in this city, that the number of bales already received at the different shipping ports since the close of the war is one million nine hundred and seventy thousand bales, or double that which was generally reported when hostilities were suspended. The same circular gives the amount still held back at some three hundred thousand bales. But we imagine that it will be found that this amount will exceed rather than fall below half million of bales.—While the supply in this country exceeds the general expectations, it is also stated that the recent shipments from India have been on an enormous scale, and that the quantity already afloat from that country is such as to justify the expectations of an excess in Europe from that source.

These facts reveal the danger that exists to our merchants engaged in the dry goods trade, and the general fall in prices which must of necessity follow. All who have based their calculations and made their purchases on the idea of a short supply in the cotton staple must suffer in consequence. This great supply of cotton is sufficient of itself to cause a further decline in gold, and is bringing us every day nearer a specie basis. That point is coming now as fast as the country can stand it, and if we add to that legislation to force immediate specie payments we shall be plunged headlong into a general crash. Instead of legislating on the finance question, Congress should forthwith secure the restoration of the South, and thus open a market for goods by giving confidence to the public everywhere.—N. Y. Herald.

GENERAL NEWS.

The New York Post, the 22rd., says:

Prices of goods of all descriptions are falling. The decline was great yesterday, though some kinds of merchandise were held by owners with considerable firmness. So much effort to make sales has rarely been put forth, and the disposition was everywhere manifest to close transactions and to "realize." The concession in dress goods is large—it extends to prints and all fine fabrics; on standards and woollens it is lightest. The fall in one month, on the basis of some of the prices of goods sold at auction yesterday, is reported to be fully one hundred per cent. but this is, of course, no criterion whatever of the market. The average decline may not exceed twenty or twenty-five per cent in that time.

There is a very general feeling of insecurity in business circles, amounting almost to a panic in some quarters, and this adds to the depression. Nobody questions the policy of selling, but the public, and particularly the men in business, do not readily buy.

TALL DANCING.—The New Orleans Star describes a ball given in that city by the milliners and modistes, during which the dress of one of the dancers caught fire. The Star adds:

"Some idea of her style of dancing may be gathered, when it is further stated that the dress caught from one of the chandeliers overhead."

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE OF STERLING KING.—A Louisville telegram of March 21st states that Sterling King, who confessed himself guilty of the attempted assassination of Secretary Seward, endeavored to commit suicide this morning by severing a blood-vessel of his arm. His recovery is considered doubtful.

John Van Buren, who has been down at Charleston looking around, having returned home, says if there are any rebels left in that city, he could not see or hear of them. Everybody was in favor of the President and the President's policy.

A Dublin journal observed that a handbill announcing a public meeting in that city states, with boundless liberality, that "the ladies, without distinction of sex, are invited to attend."

The death of a Mormon Bishop is thus announced. He was thirty-seven years old, and leaves an interesting family of eleven wives and forty-seven small children to mourn his death.

Hardee has, at the request of Generals Grant and Sherman, received from President Johnson an assurance that he may continue in the pursuits of civil life without fear of molestation by the United States authorities.

The Democratic candidate for the Governorship of Connecticut has just been to Washington, where, says the Intelligencer, "he had several cordial and pleasant interviews with the President, who appreciates the friendship of Mr. English, and who, we have every reason to believe, would be highly pleased to hear of his success on the first Monday of April."

William B. Astor owns 1,800 houses in New York, and is charged with the responsibility of the recent large advance in rents. One little house, which two years ago he rented for $300, was put up at $1,500 last year, and this year he charges $2,500.

A correspondent states that the standard library of the late John W. Syme, of Petersburg, was sold at auction recently, and that the finest works sold for twenty-five cents a volume, and the rest at five cents a pound.

The death of a German veteran, who served under the great Frederick in the seven years' war, is announced. He died at the respectable age of one hundred and twenty, at the hamlet of Slaude, in Upper Silesia. His name was Laurence Halacz.

Now I don't pretend to say that I am selling goods at New York prices. I say no such thing. I do it is no such humbuggery. But I say I have sold goods as cheap, I expect to sell as cheap, and I say I will sell as cheap as any Yankee, Jew or Gentile, who has paid for his goods, or ever expects to pay for them, cost houses not excepted. To prove what I say, and what I mean, I respectfully ask my friends and customers to call and examine my stock at the old R. Smith Building, corner of Fayetteville and Hargett streets.

SALISBURY BRASS BAND

REORGANIZED 1st January, 1866, on a larger scale than formerly, under the direction of its former tutor, W. H. NEAVE, who was also chief music writer and Band Teacher in Gen Lee's army. He will be assisted in leadership and direction by his brother, Ed. Neave, leader during the entire late war of Gen Lee's best and most favorite band, viz: 4th N C. The Band is composed of the best members of the old Band, together with the best members of several of the fine Bands trained by W. H. Neave, in camps, who have moved to Salisbury from all points in the State to follow their respective vocations and continue the study and practice of music. This Band will be a permanent institution for all State and festive occasions, and will equal the best to be found in the world, if sustained by those desiring a fine order of Brass and String music; if not it must go down after this year.

W. H Neave is also agent for the celebrated Dodworth Brass instruments, proved and warranted to him, and by him to others; also, the most pleasing, effective and popular Piano music, selected by his friends, H. B. Dodworth and Kent Botsford, New York. For beginners, medium players, and advanced musicians, no trash for either.

Music composed and arranged to order for Parlor Orchestral and Brass Band use for any kind and number of instruments.

Salisbury has been selected for Musical Headquarters for its central position.

N. B. Music letters of enquiry for musical information, but with no view to business with Mr. Neave or Band must contain two postage stamps.

DAILY SENTINEL

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

Fashionable Folly in New York.

"The costliest fabrics, fit for a Queen's wardrobe, or the trousseau of the Duchess de Mouchey, see Anna Murat—the extravagance of whose bridal array was a scandal even in Paris—find ready purchasers. On Broadway you may count hundreds of the once unattainable camel's hair shawls in a five minutes' walk, though their price is augmented greatly; and velvet cloaks, which have, the past winter, cost three hundred dollars, are so common, and, worn every day in our dusty streets, so grimy and gray, that one gladly turns to the plain and pretty English beaver, which the moth of use will not corrupt, and whose beauty the gusty thieves will not steal. The most bizarre and startling fashions have a decided, if brief, popularity, and the eagerness with which the cheap ordium ornaments are bought and worn by all classes of women is a sad commentary on the artistic sense which inspires these toilets. Pray Heaven the wise virgins of Chicago may gently rebuke their wasteful and too profuse cousins of Gotham, in the name of sweet simplicity. For, as Hamlet remarks of the popularity of his uncle's picture, (which, if that depicting resembled any Claudius it was ever my misfortune to see, was amply amazing,) "There is something more than natural in this if philosophy could make it out," and philosophy makes it out to be this: If we pay two dollars for every fantastic nothing which a converted whim can hunger for, when we have but one dollar to pay, which is exactly the condition of a large contingent of this proud Republic, there will come a day when a very bitter reckoning must be made. Having had one jolly and grotesque dance of fashion, we must pay the greedy piper, who was gay Bassanio while he piped, and fierce Shylock in the settlement. While we send gold abroad as if the Hudson were the new Pactolus, we have a paper money, if as buoyant, alack, possibly as sagacious as the thistledown. Our over-crowded city forces merchants to pay enormous rents. The immense absorption of costly wares by the women of the land, has stimulated their importation, and the prices asked must be enormous to sustain the dealers. Many business firms lean one against the other. The first brick falling down tumbles the whole row. Old and sagacious business men now predict a panic and much distress. It is, perhaps, only individual economy which can make a reform worth anything. In Paris, societies have been formed in the name of Sainte Mousseline, the members of which pledge themselves to wear only the simplest raiment. But one remembers how leagues were formed here to interdict the use of foreign luxuries during the war. Ladies came to the meeting wrapped in cashmeres, trailing priceless silks, and voting with hands that flashed with diamonds. The long line of costly equipages stretched half a mile from the doors of the hall. The convention quarrelled about the terms of the covenant, as feminine convocations always do, (the nobler sex, versed in parliamentary law, and well read in Chesterfield's letters to his son, never calls names or loses temper, which is proof that it alone is fit to legislate,) and finally decided to pledge itself that each lady should buy no article of foreign manufacture which she thought she could do without. You see what a heroic abstinence, what an ascetic self-denial must have followed. The shopman never sold so many costly goods, the ladies never made such dazzling toilets, and the national debt steadily grew. After this little sugar coated pill of morality, the feminine world shall have a teaspoonful of jelly, in the shape of another item or two, concerning the modes. Soft shades will be most stylish—lavender, violet, and gray being de rigeur. Flounces have made their reappearance, one wide one expressing the highest fashionable knowledge on the part of the wearer. Basquines will give place to loose garments this spring. The old-fashioned doublet, or triple-talma, and a short sleeveless circular, are the favorite modes. A French sacque, cut with sleeves, has appeared. Except with a dress of the same hue it is very ugly. The empire bonnet is fast becoming a thing of hateful memory. The new shapes are a small, close front and narrow barrolet or curtain, with no crown whatever, and only a fall of rich lace over the chignon; the Pamela, a grotesque something, between the aforetime Gypsy and an exaggerated Mary Stuart cap; and a very minute and appalling object, like a doll's soup plate, called variously the Parapa, the Watteau, and the Payzanne. This rose by any other name would smell as sweet and flaunt as ugly. Of these modes the crownless shape, being the only endurable one, is like to be the least popular, the eagerness for the outre and fantastic having become feverish.

What if Peter Stuyvesant could revisit these glimpses of the moon! Picture that frugal gentleman's amazement at the brilliant hordes of Broadway shoppers swept past him? Sadly conscious that the great world had whirled by, with no room on its swift circle for his old-time personality and antiquated notions, he would seek his last yew tree to weep beneath its venerable branches and find even them about to leave.

POSTSCRIPT TO PRAYER.—The black minister was closing up his prayer, when some white boys had the ill-manners to laugh so the sable supplicant heard them. He had said a moment before and very earnestly, "Bless all that is human," when the laugh occurred; and commencing again, just before the "Amen," the pious old negro said:

"O Lord, we are not in the habit of addin' postscripts to our prayer; but if de spession, "Bress all is human" won't take in dese wicked white fellers, den we pray dat de Lord will bless some dat ain't human, also, besides, Amen!"

A MINISTER IN DISGUISE.—A reverend gentleman, who has been quite conspicuous in Wisconsin radical politics for many years, is thus irreverently treated by one of his party papers at the State Capital:

"Elder Spooner, the accomplished divine, reporter, and member of the railroad lobby, appeared in a clean shirt this morning. He was not recognized by his most intimate friends."

Woman is like ivy—the more you are ruined the closer she clings to you.

A vile bachelor adds: "Ivy is like woman—the more it clings to you, the more you are ruined."

Quilp requests the young fellow who passes his house long after midnight, singing, "What would home be without a mother!" to change his tune. What can a chap care for home or mother either who stays out so late o'nights?

"Thank God, that I have got my hat back from this congregation!" said a disappointed clergyman, turning it upside down, when it was returned empty to him at the close of a contribution.

LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE old and well established
Ætna Company, of Hartford,
Offers superior inducements to all who wish to provide for family or friends.
All losses are promptly paid. No case of litigation has ever occurred with this Company. With assetts of $2,300,000, it offers to receive one half of the premium in a note and half in cash, and, after the second year to credit each customer with the dividends of the Company, which are now 50 per cent. With a small outlay, $5000, or $10,000 or $20,000, may be secured to the family after their earthly providers are taken away. What father or husband would not feel thankful on his dying couch, that he had availed himself of every proper means to place those nearest and dearest to him, above the pinchings of want and a life of dependence upon friends or charity? 8 819 policies have been issued from the office ending Jan. 15 1866. The total income for the year 1865 was $1,683,339 57; total disbursements $527 805 24, leaving a balance to surplus fund of $1,155,234 33.
In Raleigh, a large number have liberally responded and promptly acted in this matter; yet many delay, and may wait until it is too late. A man in this city lately left his place of business for his evening meal, well and healthy, but never reached that home except as he was carried there to die. Had that man taken the advice of the Agent, he might have left $5000 to minister to the necessities of a sorrowing family. Delays are dangerous, procrastination destructive. But one says "I only had confidence in the Company that it would pay, I would insure." Well, it never has failed to pay and to-day is more responsible than ever before. It is patronized by some of the most sagacious minds in the land—men competent to detect and expose any deception if it existed.

In its action, it is as quick as Peruvian Guano, while it does not leave the land in an exhausted state, but on the other hand permanently improves it. This has been fully proven by years of trial.

PROSPECTUS
OLD NORTH STATE.
"The Old North State Forever."

THE undersigned will commence the publication of a Daily and Weekly Newspaper, bearing the above title, in the city of Salisbury about the 10th of March next.
The Old North State will be, under our control, a firm and decided Union paper. But while it will be firm and decided in its support of the Union, and of all just and necessary measures tending to its complete restoration, it will yet be liberal and conservative. It will oppose radicalism from whatever quarter it may come. Confiding in the loyal intentions of the great body of the people of North Carolina, it will endeavor to soothe the asperities of the past by promoting among them a spirit of reconciliation and harmony.
Rejecting the exploded dogma of paramount State sovereignty, it will cheerfully support the National government in the exercise of every power necessary to the maintenance of its rightful authority, while it will ever contend against any encroachments upon the reserved rights of the States.
It will discuss all the various political issues of the day, but in doing this it will seek to avoid everything like partizan bitterness or personal vituperation. It will also strive to avoid that detestable practice, so common among politicians, of pandering to the passions and appealing to the prejudices of the multitude in order to accomplish partizan ends. It will endeavor to enlighten and direct aright public sentiment, by disseminating correct information, and by arguments addressed to the understanding—in short it will endeavor to erect a high standard of political morality.
Its columns will be open for Political, Moral, Literary and Agricultural articles especially, and to the advertising public.
The Old North State will be printed on new type on the following

THE undersigned propose to publish in Louisburg, North Carolina a newspaper under the above denomination, The LOYALIST, as its name imports, will yield a firm, uniform, and fearless support to the Constitution of the United States, and all laws enacted in pursuance of that great instrument. To the decisions of the Supreme Court of the nation, in such questions as originate in the interpretation or application of the principles involved in our federal jurisprudence or policy, the Loyalist will accord its unqualified acquiescence, as to the will of the American people, duly expressed through the only legitimate, determinate and sufficient medium. Its general politics will be those so long and so thoroughly taught by the patriotism, the eloquence, and the wisdom of Clay, and his departed compeers, and so fearfully vindicated by the present melancholy and helpless condition of the communities so recently arrayed in arms against the integrity and harmony of our national union.
The Loyalist would make the institutions and independence the material and moral dignity of the nation, as enduring and as brilliant as the stars whose images adorn the field and the folds of its flag. The Loyalist will also dedicate its energies and exert its abilities to ascertain and cherish the interests, as well as to develope the immense resources of North Carolina. To the cause of education, the general diffusion of knowledge, the elevation of the masses, and the religious culture of all within its influence it will be a consistent and inflexible friend. Its editorial department will be conducted by gentlemen whose names will be announced in due time.
The LOYALIST will be issued weekly, carefully printed of the size of the Raleigh "Daily Sentinel," and furnished to patrons at $3,00 per annum, payable on delivery of the first number. Subscriptions and communications respectfully solicited.
